Finys Publishes New Website

TROY, Mich., May 02, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) - Finys, developer of the Finys Suite, a modern enterprise core administration platform for property and casualty (P&C) insurance companies, published a new website as part of the re-positioning of its brand.

The new Finys site, www.finys.com, features improved navigation; more descriptive content of the Finys Suite's flexibility and capabilities; a new, interactive blog called, Cycles; and easier access to contact information.

"As lifelong learners, we're always eager to incorporate what we continue to learn into our product," said Kurt Diederich, co-founder, president, and CEO of Finys. "Given the way the product has evolved, it made good business sense to let its evolution be reflected in a commensurate evolution of our web presence. As we continue to serve the insurance industry, learn from that service, and evolve our product, we look forward to the ways in which our web presence, too, will continue to evolve."

The Finys Suite incorporates user-driven business rules and workflows, and supports insurers, managing general agencies (MGAs), managing general underwriters (MGUs), and distribution channels. The site is designed primarily to serve the needs of policyholders and third-party constituents. It manages the entire insurance lifecycle from policy to claims, billing to reporting, and portals and mobile access to audit controls.
