DESIGN STUDIO

Configurability by Design

Our Design Studio is a configuration toolset that gives carriers whatever degrees of self-sufficiency they want. It also gives carriers the latitude to apply the resources best suited for the work, whether those resources are business users or members of their IT departments.

To ensure that self-sufficiency, we'll introduce the Design Studio by working with you in joint design sessions in a virtual lab. We'll help you establish functional objectives. We'll teach you how to configure the Suite, your products, and your lines of business. And we'll show you how to do those things simply and efficiently on your own.

DIY Made Easy

The Design Studio makes things simple and efficient by featuring:

- An intuitive user interface
- Pre-built line of business templates
- Drag-and-drop, WYSIWYG fields and process aspects
- Real-time collaboration and screen design with key stakeholders
- Automated data-entry scripting
- Microsoft Word based forms and print authoring
- Business rules management
- Report wizards
- Automated regression testing
- User security administration down to the individual field level.

Are You Ready?

The Design Studio is ready when you are. And we're always ready to help make your business more responsive and to help you get products to market more quickly.

Please contact us today to let us know how we can help you and your business.
